

aksoy printing at a glance

Aksoy Printing, established in 1970, is situated in Istanbul, Turkey. Aksoy Printing is known as a boutique printing company which focuses mainly on producing art books, annual reports and catalogues, providing a high level of quality to its clients. Aksoy Printing has many years experience in the printing industry.

Aksoy Printing has an expanding network of clients and offers a comprehensive printing service to businesses. Aksoy Printing supplies a wide range of printing solutions tailored to each client's special requirements. With great care to attention and detail, the company provides high-quality full-color printing services.

With the latest technology available in the printing industry, Aksoy Printing employs expert staff allowing clients to get their printing needs met on time. Aksoy Printing has a large, and still growing, hard-working team which is highly skilled in the print industry.

Our commitment to our clients is to provide the highest-quality printing services along with a memorable client experience. By providing high quality printing solutions we aim to be your perfect partner for printing.

Aksoy Printing was the first to introduce pre-press stage to facilitate color separation technology to the Turkish printing industry. This enterprise has been followed by new printing technology systems and still better pre-press technology.

Lastly in 2000, Aksoy Printing acquired the Heidelberg Speedmaster 74 DI during the Drupa Exhibition. This printing machine is still a prototype of future technology. Only a small number of printing companies in the entire world possess this technology. In addition to CTP (computer to plate) technology, DI has its imaging system on the machine itself. Aksoy Printing has 6 separate CTPs for each color unit. The most distinctive feature of this printing press is the high density of dots in comparison to other technologies. Accordingly, this system is achieving the near impossible feat of making offset printing quality close to photographic print quality.

Aksoy Printing has many of the advantages of being a boutique printing company, such as spending more time on a job and its quality control. Sappi European Printer of the Year Awards also endorses Aksoy Printing's quality. Additionally, the Turkish Printers Foundations (BASEV) decided this year to give an honor award for the first time and gave it to the founder of Aksoy Printing Company; Atilla Aksoy, in recognition of his contribution to the Turkish printing industry. According to the members of the Turkish Industry, Atilla Aksoy was the first printer to specialize at a branch in Turkey.

In 2006, Gamze Aksoy joined to the organization as general manager, after she obtained her degree from the London College of Communication in Print Media Management.

Aksoy Printing's goal has always been to build long-term client relationships by listening to, understanding and exceeding their needs.
